

7 million young people in America are in current need of treatment for substance use and addiction.

80% of recent heroin initiates have previously abused prescription pain relievers.

Partnership for Drug-Free Kids is committed to helping families struggling with their son or daughter's substance use.